it would inform the public that they aren't department of health and human services (hhs) said during an afternoon press conference.

it has been deemed necessary to increase voltage to get more power with less losses and voltage drop from the same copper wire diameter